Guides

We have a guide to Planning a Football Trip to Alkmaar on the website but the stadium roof collapsed last month so the game is scheduled to be played at the The Cars Jeans Stadion in The Hague, home stadium of ADO Den Haag. Guide to Follow

Partizan Belgrade away is probably the most attractive fixture; Construction of the Partizan stadium was started after World War II, on the site of BSK Stadion, which was a 25,000 seat stadium that hosted the Yugoslav national team as well as BSK Beograd. The stadium was built with the help of the Yugoslav People's Army, in the period between 1948 and 1951. In April 1989, Partizan Belgrade purchased the stadium from the former Yugoslav People's Army, and thus became the owner. The name of the stadium were officially changed in Partizan Stadium. Partizan stadium had a 50,000 capacity before the new UEFA security regulations came in effect. There were 15 924 seats, 33 000 standing places and 585 box seats. It was renovated in 1998, and has had a capacity of 32,710 since. Guide to Follow
